About Social Thinking

Foster social-emotional learning and social competencies with our groundbreaking strategies and tools. Help individuals ages 4–80 with solid to strong language and learning abilities (from autism spectrum levels 1 and 2 to ADHD to typically developing) communicate more effectively, improve social interpretation, advance personal problem solving, build relationships, and ultimately—experience greater well-being.

For 20+ years, founder Michelle Garcia Winner and other experts have created novel ways to teach social competencies through social-emotional learning. Our work is based on research in human social development, social communication, anxiety management, neuroscience, and more.

We're thrilled when we hear from educators, clinicians, and families around the world that the Social Thinking Methodology has helped them change lives, and we'd love to help you do the same!

Who We Help

While our deeper work is for individuals age 4+ with solid learning and language skills (autism spectrum levels 1 & 2, ADHD, and other social communication challenges), a subset of our work is being adopted into mainstream classrooms and workplaces around the world to improve social-emotional competencies for all.

Who Should Attend?

In short—anyone who wants to help those with solid learning and language skills improve social competencies: speechlanguage pathologists, special and general education teachers, social workers, counselors, school and clinical psychologists, family members and caregivers, occupational therapists, behavior specialists, school administrators, and many others.

The Social Thinking Methodology builds:

- social competencies
- social self-awareness
- perspective taking
- self-regulation
- executive functioning
- social skills
- social-emotional understanding
- organizational systems
- reading comprehension of literature
- · written expression, and more...

Continuing Education Available

6 Hours of Instruction Each Day 3 Courses = 18 CE hours

The Spectrum of Social Functioning: Getting Started with Treatment Planning

ages 5 - adult

Kari Zweber Palmer

In this course, we answer the questions: What are core social learning challenges? How do we determine these challenges? How can we support learning and where do we start? Diagnostic labels such as ASD, ADHD, Twice Exceptional, Social Communication Disorder, etc. fail to pinpoint how to help an individual develop social competencies for use across the classroom, community and home. Nor do diagnostic labels help interventionists (professionals and family members) understand how social learning challenges are co-mingled with theory of mind, executive functioning and mental health challenges. In this course we will explain different types of treatment* needs based on an individual's social self-awareness, social-interpretive abilities, and social problem-solving skills. Learn practical strategies to develop skills that are required not only in relationship development but throughout academic curricula and standards.

Emotions Part 2: Emotion-Based Strategies to Foster Relationship Development and Academic and Career Performance | ages 5 - adult

Michelle Garcia Winner

Emotions are at the heart of connecting with others and forming community. We expect children and adults to intuitively navigate the abstract nature of emotions by having emotional self-awareness and self-regulation, inferring the emotions of others, reading others' intentions, etc. These skills are required for developing friendships; understanding the actions and reactions of characters in literature and history—impacting performance on academic standards; and working with others as part of a team—impacting success in the classroom and 21st century workplace. In this second course in our two-part series on emotions, learn novel treatment tools and strategies to help students, clients, and patients develop emotional awareness, explore how to read the emotions and intentions of others, emotionally sync with others, and work through social anxiety. To maximize your learning we recommend attending the course Emotions Part 1 before Emotions Part 2, but it's not required since key concepts from the first course will be summarized in the second.

Case Journeys: Treatment Planning for Improving Social Competencies

ages 4 - adult

Michelle Garcia Winner, Pamela Crooke, and Kari Zweber Palmer

Watching a clinical case study, or "case journey," unfold overtime can be very informative and powerful—and gaining tools to unpack the case journeys of the individuals you support is even better. In this course, we explore several clinical case journeys and apply a unique six-step decision-making template as a guide through the treatment process. Learn a variety of concepts, frameworks, and strategies to build social competencies that align with an individual's age, personality, social learning strengths/challenges, developmental abilities, and mental health challenges. In the afternoon, we will divide into groups based on student, client, or patient age and explore how different case journeys unfold. Members of the Social Thinking Training and Speakers' Collaborative will share their own clinical case journeys and treatment ideas, and you will get the opportunity to practice using the six-step tool with your own cases. Get lots of hands-on participation and learning in this course!

^{*}Treatment refers to using conceptual and strategy-based frameworks to help individuals improve their social competencies.

Speakers

Kari Zweber Palmer | January 29, 31

Kari Zweber Palmer, MA, CCC-SLP, is a speech-language pathologist who specializes in teaching social competencies using the Social Thinking Methodology. She works at her private practice, Changing Perspectives, in Excelsior, Minnesota, and consults with school districts on implementing Social Thinking into their programming. She trained and works directly with Michelle Garcia Winner, including as a co-author of the We Thinkers! series curricula and storybooks. She is a passionate speaker on—and practitioner of—using the power of Social Thinking to improve social competencies, and she's a member of the Social Thinking Training & Speakers' Collaborative.

Michelle Garcia Winner | January 30-31

Michelle Garcia Winner, MA, CCC-SLP, is the founder of Social Thinking and a globally recognized thought leader, author, speaker, and social-cognitive therapist who is dedicated to serving individuals with social learning challenges. She has created numerous evidence-based strategies, treatment* frameworks, and curricula that teach educators, clinicians, institutions, and parents how to develop social competencies in those they support. Michelle also teaches how these skills are integral to a person's success in academics, their career, and maintaining close relationships.

Pamela Crooke | January 31

Pamela Crooke, PhD, CCC-SLP, is the Chief Strategy Officer and senior speech-language pathologist at Social Thinking in Santa Clara, CA. She has served as clinical faculty in three universities and worked in the Arizona schools for 15 years. Pam is a prolific speaker and has co-authored four award winning books for individuals with social learning challenges. Her current research blends Implementation Science and Practice-Based Research to examine how interventionists utilize frameworks and strategies within the Social Thinking Methodology.
