

Certificate of Attendance

Social Thinking's free webinar series

How to Use Social Thinking Materials to Teach Ages 11-22

As students shift into their tween, teen, and young adult years, they experience increasingly complex social situations and academic curricula that require more nuanced social understanding, fine-tuned critical thinking, a higher level of executive functioning, etc. In this webinar, Michelle Garcia Winner, the founder of Social Thinking, will provide valuable teaching tips and delve into the scope and sequence of using Social Thinking's products with students ages 11-22 to improve self-regulation and social competencies. The materials are helpful for students with social learning challenges (ranging from ASD levels 1 and 2, Asperger's Syndrome, ADHD, etc.) or students who are undiagnosed yet struggle with the rapidly increasing demands of social interpretation and related social skills. Some of the materials that will be discussed include Socially Curious and Curiously Social, Social Fortune or Social Fate, and Social Thinking and Me, and more.

- 90 minutes of instruction
- Original webinar took place Feb 22, 2017, recording is available to be watched at any time

Person in Attendance:

---

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Heidi Winner", written over a horizontal line.

---

Heidi Winner, Webinar Coordinator